NOTES

1. Right of Abode in the UK

This passport is proof that the holder has right of abode in the UK if the holder's nationality is shown as British citizen or the passport has an observation that the holder has right of abode in the UK.

2. Immigration & Visa Requirements

Possession of a passport does not exempt the holder from complying with the immigration requirements of another territory, or from the need to obtain visas or other permits where required. Please check these requirements before travelling.

3. Immigration Gates

British Citizens may use their e-passport in automated gates. These are usually marked with this symbol:

4. Registration Overseas

British nationals can register any plans to travel or to live outside of the United Kingdom with the Foreign & Commonwealth Office. This will make it easier to get consular assistance to you quickly in an emergency.

5. Consular Assistance Abroad

If you need consular assistance when you are outside the European Union in a country where there is no British Embassy or Consulate, you can get help from the Embassy or Consulate of another Member State of the European Union.

6. Dual Nationality

British nationals who are also nationals of another country cannot be protected by Her Majesty's Representatives against the authorities of that country. If, under the law of that country, they are liable for any obligation (such as military service), the fact that they are British nationals does not exempt them from it.

7. Caution

This passport remains the property of Her Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom and may be withdrawn at any time. It should not be tampered with or passed to an unauthorised person. Tampering with a passport may constitute a criminal offence and render it invalid for use. Any case of loss or destruction should be reported immediately to the local police and a British passport issuing authority. The passport of a deceased person should be sent for cancellation to the nearest such passport authority; it will be returned on request.
